

The one thing people love more than a hero is to see a hero fail, fall, or die trying. I chose my path, you chose the way of the hero. They found you amusing for a while, but eventually they will hate you.